More officers are killed and injured in and around their vehicles than by felonious assaults. To reduce these numbers, we need to look at making effective changes with respect to roadway activities. That starts with this course!

Roadway Tactics takes a new approach to training by teaching students through successful events rather than learning only from the tragedies in law enforcement. This course focuses on roadway dangers that go beyond “watch your speed”. Including everything from operating motor vehicles on patrol and pursuits, to emergency responses and positioning on stops, directing traffic and assisting on accident scenes.

Offered for your convenience in an abbreviated 3-hour online program, a one-day, eight (8) hour training course – as well as a two-day, sixteen (16) hour Trainer Certification Program, this course offers new strategies and tactics that will enhance any agency’s current EVO training program.

As Gordon Graham notes – “If it’s predictable, it’s preventable.” This course is designed to prevent the unnecessary injuries that occur all too frequently.

Current events and relevant supporting material that meet the professional needs of law enforcement is the foundation for reconstruction. Course topics will include, but not be limited to
